Ever heard about Glamoč valley?

Although Glamoč is largely depopulated at the present time, it continues to draw a large number of nature and historical enthusiasts. Let us give you a quick rundown of a few of its main attractions.

Numerous shrines to Silvanus and Diana, the power couple of the Illyrian pantheon, may be found in Glamoc valley. In most depictions, Silvanus resembles the Greek god Pan, a goat-man hybrid, while Silvana is shown with either a goat or a dog. Shepherding is still the main industry in the Glamoč valley, and archaeologists have discovered 11 reliefs depicting Silvanus, who is also the Roman god of forests and pastures. No wonder our traditional leather shoe (opanak) is one of its main treasures.

Jeste li ikada čuli za Glamočku dolinu?

Iako je Glamoč u današnje vrijeme u velikoj mjeri depopulisan, on i dalje privlači veliki broj ljubitelja prirode i istorije.

Dozvolite nam da vam damo kratak pregled nekoliko njegovih glavnih atrakcija. U Glamočkoj dolini nalaze se brojna svetilišta Silvana i Dijane, moćnog para ilirskog panteona.

U većini prikaza Silvan lici na grčkog boga Pana, predstavljenog kao pola jarac pola čovjek, dok je Silvana prikazana ili sa kozom ili psom. Pastirstvo je i dalje glavna djelatnost u glamočkoj dolini, a arheolozi su otkrili 11 reljefa na kojima je prikazan Silvan, koji je i rimski bog šuma i pašnjaka. Nije ni čudo što je naša tradicionalna kožna cipela (opanak) jedno od njenih glavnih bogatstava.

Forgotten hero

The Ivo Lola Ribar Museum, once frequented by young people from all over the former Yugoslavia, is now tucked away in a quiet pine grove not far from Glamoč. Ivo Lola Ribar was once held up as an idol for abandoning a promising life—one in which he had studied in Paris, Geneva, and Belgrade, learned several languages, and played tennis and golf before World War II — in order to fight for a better and more just world.

The official story at the time was that a German plane bombed the makeshift airstrip where he was waiting to board the airplane. Several theories were spawned by this interpretation, and some of them are still in circulation today. There is widespread speculation that Tito had him put to death because he had ambitions to lead and was too popular with the youth. Despite its obsolescence, this memorial continues to attract visitors who wish to pay their respects.

Zaboravljeni heroj

Muzej Ive Lole Ribara, u koji su nekada posjećivali mladi iz svih krajeva bivše Jugoslavije, danas je ušuškan u tihoj borovoj šumici nedaleko od Glamoča.

Ivo Lola Ribar je svojevremeno smatran idolom jer je napustio život koji obećava – život u kojem je studirao u Parizu, Ženevi i Beogradu, naučio nekoliko jezika i igrao tenis i golf prije Drugog svjetskog rata – da bi se izborio za bolji i pravedniji svijet.

Zvanična priča u to vrijeme bila je da je njemački avion bombardovao improvizovanu pistu na kojoj je čekao da se ukrca u avion. Ovo tumačenje je iznjedrilo nekoliko teorija, a neke od njih su i danas u opticaju.

Postoji i spekulacija da ga je Tito ubio zato što je imao ambicije da bude vođa i bio je previše popularan među omladinom.

Uprkos zastarjelosti, ovaj spomenik i dalje privlači posjetioce koji žele da odaju počast.

Ever thought about what might be the highest gravestone in Balkans?

Although Islamic doctrine does not favor outwardly lavish displays of gravestones, there is one in Bosnia and Herzegovina which is twice as tall as the average person. Turban-topped stele ("nišan") of Omer-aga Bašić is one of the most impressive Muslim gravestones in the Balkans. Located in the middle of road between Glamoč and Livno this monument is 4.7 meters tall and reads: "Time of the death of deceased is 1798. El Fatiha for his soul." Various types of turban-topped stelas can be discerned based on their color and design while this one belongs to the group of the most glamorous ones as it has as large turban as to provide shadow for many people. The "body" of the structure is shaped like a giant mushroom, drawing the attention of curious tourists who marvel at the longevity of the slender monolith. Could it be that its depth at the base matches its height?

Da li ste ikada razmišljali o tome koji bi mogao biti najviši nadgrobni spomenik na Balkanu?

Iako islamska doktrina ne favorizuje spolja raskošno izlaganje nadgrobnih spomenika, u Bosni i Hercegovini postoji jedan koji je duplo viši od prosječne osobe. Nišan sa turbanom Omer-age Bašića jedan je od najupečatljivijih muslimanskih nadgrobnih spomenika na Balkanu. Smješten na sredini puta između Glamoča i Livna, ovaj spomenik visok je 4,7 metara i glasi: "Vrijeme smrti pokojnika je 1798. El Fatiha za njegovu dušu." Različiti tipovi nišana sa turbanima mogu se uočiti na osnovu njihove boje i dizajna, dok ovaj spada u grupu najglamuroznijih jer ima veliki turban da daje sjenku mnogim ljudima. "Tijelo" je oblikovano kao džinovska pečurka, privlačeći pažnju radoznalih turista koji se čude dugovječnosti vitkog monolita. Da li je moguće da njegova dubina u osnovi odgovara njegovoj visini?

Why not check out the view?

The only point from which the Mosque, Orthodox and Catholic churches can be seen in one shot in the town itself, is the still standing stronghold called "Old Town" or Tabija (Turkish for fortress). Although the only preserved part that has withstood the test of time is the mihrab (the niche that indicates direction of Mecca, holly pilgrimage site in Arabia, which Muslims face when praying) it still presents one of the main attractions of Glamoč valley.

The fortress, said to date back to the pre-Ottoman era, was abandoned in 1851, and partially demolished in 1882. Near the fortress there was a cave where a family house was later built. There is a legend attached to the cave, which says that seven sleepers took refuge in it during the persecution under Diocletian. Their names are carved in stone: Jemliha, Mislina, Miksilina, Mernoš, Debernoš, Šadnoš and Kefeštatioš.

A pogled odozgo?

Jedina tačka sa koje se u jednom snimku vide džamija, pravoslavna i katolička crkva u samom gradu je još uvek uporište pod nazivom „Stari grad“ ili Tabija (turski tvrđava). Iako je jedini očuvani dio koji je izdržao test vremena mihrab (niša koja ukazuje na pravac Meke, svetog hodočašća u Arabiji, sa kojim se muslimani susreću prilikom molitve) on i dalje predstavlja jednu od glavnih atrakcija Glamočke doline.

Tvrđava, za koju se navodi da potiče iz predosmanskog doba, napuštena je 1851. godine, a djelimično srušena 1882. U blizini tvrđave nalazila se pećina u kojoj je kasnije podignuta porodična kuća. Za pećinu je vezana legenda koja kaže da se u nju za vrijeme progona pod Dioklecijanom sklonilo sedam spavača. Njihova imena su uklesana u kamenu: Jemliha, Mislina, Miksilina, Mernoš, Debernoš, Šadnoš i Kefeštatioš.

Curious as to Silvanus and Diana's portrayal?

The Cultural Center grounds are worth exploring, as they house artifacts from antiquity and the Middle Ages, including a relief of Silvanus and Diana.

Under the direction and approval of Bosnia and Herzegovina's State Commission for the Preservation of National Monuments, this outdoor exhibition was constructed in 2007 utilizing the stone ruins of houses, structures, and sculptures unearthed around the Glamoč valley and transported there. Although its long-term viability is uncertain due to a lack of funding, the lapidary stands as a symbol of the region's and Bosnia and Herzegovina's rich historical heritage. From a 21st-century vantage point, you can see how fleeting some ancient civilizations really were.

Želite li vidjeti kako su Silvan i Dijana predstavljeni?

Područje Kulturnog centra vrijedi istražiti, jer se u njemu nalaze artefakti iz antike i srednjeg vijeka, uključujući reljef Silvana i Dijane.

Pod rukovodstvom i odobrenjem Državne komisije za očuvanje nacionalnih spomenika Bosne i Hercegovine, ova izložba na otvorenom izgrađena je 2007. godine od kamenih ruševina kuća, objekata i skulptura otkopanih oko

Glamočke doline i tamo prevezeni.

Iako je njegova dugoročna održivost neizvjesna zbog nedostatka finansijskih sredstava, lapidarij je simbol bogatog istorijskog naslijeđa regije i Bosne i Hercegovine.

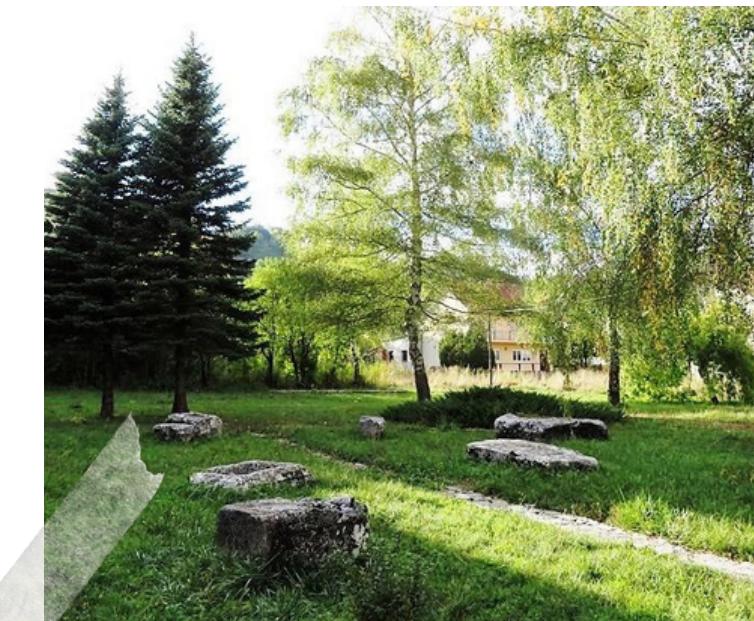

Sa tачke gledišta 21. vijeka, možete videti koliko su neke drevne civilizacije zaista bile prolazne.

From hiking to swimming

You've probably heard of Cincar Mountain, the tallest in western Bosnia and Herzegovina at 2006 meters, and the home of some famous wild horses. Five (it. cinque) heads, referring to five prominent peaks that exceed 1700 m, is the literal translation of the name, which some believe originates from the Illyrian-Roman period. Towering karst mountains, varying in altitude from 1200 to 2006 m above sea level and 1100 above valley level, enclose Glamoč valley on all sides. With this and the neighboring rivers valleys Glamoč valley is mostly cut off from the rest of the region. There are trails to every peak, and you can choose from a wide range of climbing difficulties. The largest lake Hrast is a popular summertime bathing spot and leisure area and, with Lake Šator on the top of Šator-mountain and Lake Busija, present a true gem of the region.

Od planinarenja do kupanja

Vjerovatno ste čuli za planinu Cincar, najvišu u zapadnoj Bosni i Hercegovini sa 2006 metara i dom nekih poznatih divljih konja.

Pet (it. cinkue) glava, koji se odnose na pet istaknutih vrhova koji prelaze 1700 m, doslovan je prevod imena za koje neki veruju da potiče iz ilirsko-rimskog perioda.

Visoke kraske planine, visine od 1200 do 2006 m nadmorske visine i doline do 1100 m nadmorske visine sa svih strana okružuju Glamočku kotlinu.

Glamočka dolina je susjednim rijekama uglavnom odsječena od ostatka regiona.

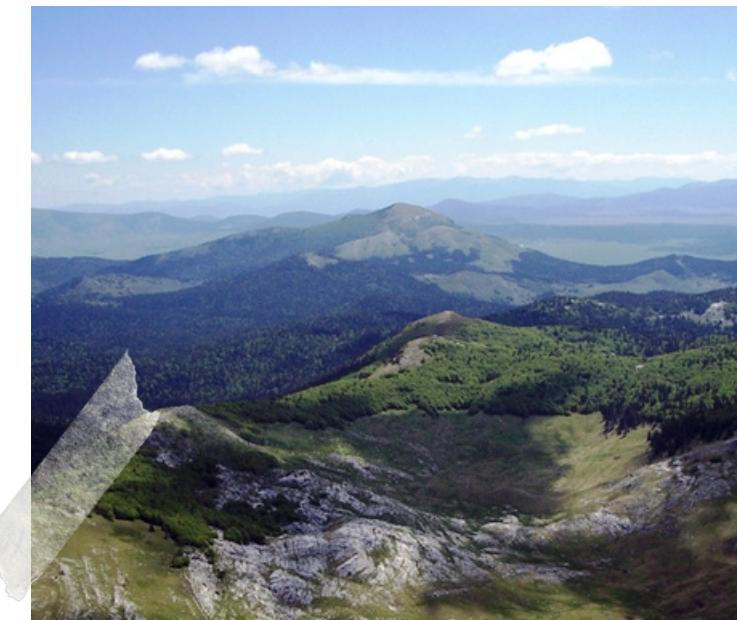

Do svakog vrha postoje staze, a možete birati između širokog spektra poteškoća za penjanje.

Najveće jezero Hrast je popularno ljetnje kupalište i rekreacija, a sa jezerom Šator na vrhu Šator-planine i jezerom Busije predstavlja pravi dragulj regiona.

You too can make a traditional leather moccasin, the opanak!

Because this leather item is only found in this region, its look, style, and quality are all intrinsically related to the region and the shepherding history we discussed before.

Moccasins, a style of leather shoe popularized by the Slavic peoples (who called them opanak), are thought to have originated among the Illyrian peoples. At the time it was designed, the straps went around the wearer's ankles, while the top went around their leg. Over time, the opanak became an integral feature of the Glamoč kolo (Glamoč circle mute dance), which with its distinctive sound crossed continents.

It's not entirely clear if the circle dance was a celebration of the opanak or the opanak was a celebration of the circle dance. Glamoč opanak is about to be recognized as a cultural treasure of Bosnia and Herzegovina after receiving protection for its geographical origin. Located within one kilometer from Glamoč historic core, the Nenadić family has been crafting traditional footwear there for generations. Glamoč valley sheep and cattle hides are used in their natural state.

I vi možete da napravite tradicionalnu kožnu obuću - opanak!

Pošto se ovaj kožni predmet nalazi samo u ovom regionu, njegov izgled, stil i kvalitet su suštinski povezani sa regionom i istorijom pastira o kojoj smo ranije govorili. Smatra se da su mokasine, stil kožne obuće popularan kod slovenskih naroda (koji su ih zvali opanak), nastao među ilirskim narodima. U vrijeme kada je dizajniran, kaiševi su kretali oko gležnjeva korisnika, dok je gornji dio išao oko njegove noge.

Vremenom je opanak postao sastavni dio glamočkog kola, koje je svojim prepoznatljivim zvukom prelazilo kontinent.

Nije sasvim jasno da li je kolo proslavilo opanak ili je opanak proslavio kolo. Glamočki opanak uskoro će biti priznat kao kulturno naslijeđe Bosne i Hercegovine nakon što je dobio zaštitu geografskog porijekla. Smještena na kilometar od istorijskog jezgra Glamoča, porodica Nenadić tu već generacijama izrađuje tradicionalnu obuću.

Glamočka dolinska koža ovaca i goveda se koristi u prirodnom stanju.
